

A YEAR OF GROWTH • FY 2010 ANNUAL REPORT

MARYLAND
FOOD BANK
UNTIL HUNGER ENDS.

2010 —————

2009 —————

TO OUR FRIENDS AND SUPPORTERS

2010 presented challenges to the Maryland Food Bank unlike anything we have witnessed in our 31-year history. The unstable economy created more senior citizens who cannot meet their basic needs; resulted in newly unemployed middle-class families needing assistance for the first time; and caused more children to fail in school because they are undernourished. Anti-hunger government programs are at risk of funding reductions making our call to action stronger than ever. We are entrusted by all sectors to meet the needs of those in our collective care with excellence.

In response, the Maryland Food Bank experienced unprecedented growth. Programs already in place provided a springboard for expanding service. Our school pantry program added more schools and doubled distribution. Pantry on the Go, our mobile food pantry delivery service, tripled in volume and moved into more counties statewide. Summer feeding and at-risk snack programs doubled in the number of children served. A new initiative for seniors eligible for, but not accessing, SNAP (food stamps) benefits resulted in nearly 1,000 new people receiving benefits.

Our core program—food distribution—is not possible without the strongest network possible, so we are investing in our partners by offering training, promoting best practices, and providing capacity building grants. In 2010 we also participated in Feeding America’s quadrennial hunger study to acquire state specific data that helps us strategize how to reach those in need in the most efficient and equitable way.

This past summer, the construction of our commercial kitchen was completed. Its dominant focus will be on high quality, high volume, “ready to heat and serve” meal production. The goal of the program is to infuse 770,000 nutrient-dense meals into the community. The kitchen training program, FoodWorks, will teach participants culinary skills and ultimately place them in jobs in the field.

As challenging as this year has been, we anticipate even more challenges while we wait for an economic reversal. Our mission “to lead the movement and nurture the belief that together we can improve the lives of Marylanders by ending hunger” becomes more important as each year passes.

We are most fortunate for and grateful to our devoted donors, government partners, and ever-growing list of volunteers that make this all possible. It is our hope that all will remain steadfast in our mission to end hunger once and for all.

BUILDING RELATIONSHIPS AND PUSHING INNOVATION, LEADS TO A BETTER VISION

Ending the effects of hunger requires looking at the root of why hunger persists and how to reach out to people and improve more lives. This requires not only envisioning a better future, but making it happen for every Marylander we can.

SNAP Outreach

Nearly 53,000 senior citizens face hunger in Maryland every day. With a $37,500 grant from Feeding America, the Maryland Food Bank undertook a pilot program to assist seniors in Baltimore City to access available SNAP (Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program) benefits that they are eligible for, benefits formerly known as food stamps.

In one year, 1,679 applications were processed and $27,000 in SNAP benefits are now assisting seniors in the city, funds that previously went unused. The total projected annual economic impact of the pilot program is $560,000 for fiscal year 2010.

School Pantry Program

Our unique School Pantry Program encourages parents to volunteer in their child's school while also receiving much-needed food from the school's pantry. Statistics show that parental involvement increases children's success rate, making for a well-educated population capable of reversing the spiral of poverty.

The growth of the program has been dynamic. 93 sites in Baltimore City and Anne Arundel and Baltimore Counties distributed 628,000 pounds of food, with 8,495 parent volunteers donating 68,000 hours to schools.

Monthly Workshops

We offer interactive learning opportunities to our partners where widely used strategies and best practices for improving or growing service to clients are introduced and discussed. In FY '10, 138 unique partners that obtain food from our Baltimore facility attended these informative and educational workshops.

WITH SO MANY GREAT PROGRAMS

WE CAN SPREAD

POSITIVE IMPACT TO MORE MARYLANDERS

Narrowing the hunger gap requires expanding our effectiveness through partnership and outreach. Spreading more resources throughout our communities will open doors to those that need the most help.

Pantry on the Go

Providing much-needed produce and canned goods to hard to serve areas is critical to reducing hunger. In FY '10, our mobile food pantries held 88 events and distributed 606,000 pounds targeted to citizens at senior centers and those living in more rural areas where access to fresh produce and the resources for food are limited.

Client Choice

This is a pantry distribution method that ensures clients receive the food of their choice with dignity. Clients are encouraged to take what they need and are allowed to select food based on their own individual preferences. When pantries use a client choice model for food distribution, the system runs at a much lower cost to the entire community by eliminating items that are not preferred by those served. In FY '10, 95 percent of our network partner pantries were transitioned to the client choice method of distribution.

Reaching New Heights through Networking

Our network relations are strengthened every day as we continue to provide critical support for our shared mission of working toward ending hunger together.

The Maryland Food Bank has invested heavily in building a network that can respond to the growing need for food effectively and efficiently.

In FY '10, the Maryland Food Bank provided grants for equipment purchases and chest freezers to increase storage and distribution capacity of partners. Several agencies also received food subsidies leveraged by the food bank, easing the strain on their limited resources.

WE DO ABSOLUTELY EVERYTHING IN OUR POWER TO BEAT HUNGER

Turning lives around away from poverty into a better future means keeping those in need fed with nutritious, easily-accessible meals. That is the only way we can beat hunger and improve lives.

FoodWorks

Construction was completed on the 3,000-square-foot culinary kitchen in July 2010. The kitchen will prepare “heat and serve” meals for hungry families while also providing culinary training for students enrolled in the program. Up to 20 students will be trained in culinary skill and safe food handling in each 14-week class under the guidance of professional chef instructors.

The kitchen’s goal is to provide 770,000 meals annually to hungry Marylanders through our network partners using high value foods to produce nutritious meals. Students will prepare the meals while learning skills for a new career – careers and meals that will help bring an end to the cycle of poverty.

Summer Food Service Program

When school is out, oftentimes children are missing steady meals as well. To remedy this, the Maryland Food Bank began the Summer Food Service Program.

We expanded the program to 39 sites (a 62 percent increase), where more than 66,000 nutritious meals were served in Baltimore City, Baltimore and Anne Arundel Counties and on the Eastern Shore.

Supper Clubs Program

This new program began in January 2010 in partnership with the Maryland Food Bank, U.S. Department of Agriculture, and the Maryland State Department of Education.

It provides students in after-school programs a hot meal; food that these growing children may not have at home. More than 39,000 meals were served at 16 sites in Anne Arundel and Baltimore Counties, Baltimore City, and on the Eastern Shore.

HOPE FOR TOMORROW:

FRESH PICKED

AND DELIVERED TO THOSE IN NEED DAILY

Our mission is to end hunger – doing so requires a network of donors, programs, services, and partners to assist those in need. Our work is possible because of the food chain on which we operate: from procuring donated and purchased food and funds; to food bank programs and services; to the 600 organizations and programs we work with each year; to those that do not have enough food to eat. Our accomplishments this year include:

The Maryland Food Bank distributed 18.6 million pounds of food through our network of food pantries, soup kitchens, shelters, and feeding programs in Fiscal Year '10.

For the first time, the Maryland Food Bank was awarded four stars from Charity Navigator, the highest possible rating from America's leading independent charity evaluator.

With a solid partnership in the fight against hunger with Perdue Farms, the Maryland Food Bank – Eastern Shore opened its 2,700-square-foot Perdue Farms Cold Storage Facility, allowing more food to be stored properly and distributed to those in need on the Eastern Shore.

Our 3,783 volunteers donated 20,595 hours to assist our operations, allowing the Maryland Food Bank to use our staff and resources towards programs rather than overhead.

From Fiscal Year '09 to Fiscal Year '10, revenue and support – our fundraising efforts – increased by 11.5 percent.

SMILING FACES, NOURISHED BODIES,
HAPPY FAMILIES: THAT'S HOW WE MEASURE SUCCESS

How do you know if you are making an impact? By measuring the results of our efforts, partnerships, and reach, we can truly see where we were, where we are, and where we are going. The Maryland Food Bank values the partnerships we have with our donors who support our mission to end hunger.

Our donors continue to provide us the support we need to feed Maryland's hungry. In spite of the ongoing recession, the Maryland Food Bank has seen a deeper commitment from our donors and the introduction of new friends who are helping us feed more people than ever before. With more in need than ever before, the Maryland Food Bank's supporters continue to recognize the ongoing importance of ensuring that no man, woman, child or senior citizen has to wonder where they will get their next meal.

For every dollar we receive, we can provide 2.1 meals. We can provide nearly three cases of peanut butter for what it would cost the average shopper for one. Making the most of our donations is a measure of our success.
